

TFX: Your New Home for the Treasury Financial Manual

TFX is here! Treasury Financial Experience (TFX) is a new platform that centralizes how you connect with the federal financial management guidance you need. Learn more about how TFX offers a modernized approach to the Treasury Financial Manual (TFM) and other financial management resources below.

What is TFX?

TFX is the next-generation solution for federal financial management guidance. It is an intuitive online platform, created by the Fiscal Service in collaboration with our customers, offering an easy-to-use, single source for federal financial management policy and resources. Our resources include the TFM, Financial Management (FM) Standards, and more coming soon!

Who is TFX for?

TFX was initially designed to support anyone who references the TFM. We are now expanding the platform to be a one-stop-shop for financial management resources!

Where can I find TFM content?

TFM content can now be accessed on TFX with two view options:

Classic View

- Traditional version of TFM for users who prefer to navigate by Volume and Chapter.
- Mirrors current TFM format.
- Minor updates/fixes in navigation tabs.

Topical View

- Task-based navigation.
- Connect with the information you need by navigating menus on the TFX landing page.
- Robust search with new content management system.

When is TFM moving?

TFM is moving on March 29, 2024! If you visit the legacy TFM site you will be automatically directed to TFX.

Why are we changing?

Fiscal Service has been working to reimagine the financial management (FM) experience.

We heard you!

Beginning in 2017, the Fiscal Service conducted research to hear directly from our customers on how we could improve. Thanks to the participation of over 350 FM professionals, we learned that you needed a one-stop platform for FM resources. We also identified opportunities for a more modern interface, improved search capabilities, and intuitive navigation.

Designed for the Digital Age:

TFX is a modern, user-centric website that is being continually improved and expanded. We're providing you with the technical platform you need to easily connect with all things FM.

Looking ahead:

TFX has become our one-stop platform for Fiscal Service policy, guidance, and instruction. Stay tuned as we continue to bring more resources and enhancements into the TFX platform!
